

In Koala class we wrote a new version of the Very Hungry Caterpillar
Here are 2 of my favourites

The very hungry cow - by Joe

Bella was only a calf but she was very hungry. On Monday she ate some hay but she was still hungry. On Tuesday she munched on some silage but she was still hungry. On Wednesday she nibbled on some fresh grass but she was still hungry. On Thursday she crunched on some parsnips but she was still hungry. On Friday she sipped some fresh, cool water but she was still hungry. On Saturday she chomped on some bright orange carrots but she was still hungry. On Sunday she devoured some barley straw. Now she had a full belly and she didn't feel too good. Suddenly her tail went up and she had an enormous poo!

The End

The very freezing boy by Billy

One day a very cold boy ate a hot apple but that didn't help. He was still very cold. Next he ate a very hot cereal but he was still very cold. Then he drunk a hot tea. His mouth got warmer but he still felt cold. He got in bed and ate a hot McDonalds then went to sleep. The next day he munched on a hot potato. He got a little bit warm but he was still cold. Then he sucked on a coffee but he was still only a little bit warm. Then the next day he got fatter. He was so confused but he still felt cold. He got in a hot bath! Suddenly he was on fire! He wasn't cold any more but he had other problems.
