

This week in Early Years...

Balance ability sessions are back to normal this week: Wombats need to wear their trainers on Monday; Raccoons need to wear their trainers on Friday. Thank you.

Book of the week:

Congratulations!

Harper was our Wombat respect star of the week. We celebrated how she consistently shows respect to her peers, all adults and the environment.

Eli was our Raccoon respect star of the week. We celebrated how he shows respect to his peers and classroom resources.

Lennon was our Wombat writer of the week for his independent sentence writing.

Aronas was our Raccoon writer of the week for his fantastic sentence writing.

The weather is due to be extremely hot this week. Please ensure you check school communications each morning for updates about any changes. Your child needs their sun hat, sun cream and water bottle every day.

The week's overview:

Understanding the World	Art	RE
What is different about life in other countries?	How can we use natural objects to create a landscape scene?	What is a caretaker? How can we take care of something precious?
Shape, Space and Measure	Music	PSHE
Can you describe the position of the bear?	Can we perform previously learnt songs?	What does it mean to eat healthily?

Number focus: patterns within numbers to 10. We will be reviewing previous learning including double numbers, equal and unequal groups, making and describing doubles on a rekenrek, and sorting odd and even numbers.
